

THE OCD FOUNDATION OF MICHIGAN

Join us for our

Spring Program

“OCD and Technology”

Stephen Smith and Christian Komor, PsyD

New advances in technology have given us new ways to address our OCD. Stephen Smith has developed a smart phone app called “nOCD,” which gives OCD sufferers a tool to monitor their OCD symptoms and help direct their ERP (Exposure and Response Prevention). Dr. Komor utilizes teleconferencing as a tool to connect to his clients, thereby allowing him to extend beyond local borders to reach those in need. Appropriately, this program embraces the new technology as Stephen and Chris will be joining us via Skype from California and Florida.
